5. Updates

Kwok entered at 12:34pm

Comedians have been set for Comedy with a Cause. Langmead has offered to handle the afterparty event.

Santa event went well – food and hot chocolate was exhausted- $110 raised for Angel Tree Project.

6. New Business

a. Fall Pancake Breakfast Funds

The Society had an outstanding invoice of $485.94 to Food and Beverage Services as a result of the Fall 2014 Pancake Breakfast. This had precipitated from a miscommunication between SFU Student Success and the SFSS on how costs would be split between the two entities. The initial understanding was that the SFSS would simply be providing manpower and DJ costs at a Student Success event.

The SFSS also has a longstanding history of running pancake breakfasts on the first Tuesday of the semester. During budget constraints a number of years ago, the Student Society cut the Events line item drastically resulting in the end of pancake breakfasts for one year – Student Service requested that pancake breakfasts be conducted once again in coordination with the Student Society. As a result, Events and Promotions Committee has typically established an internal line item to fund the event, given its success as a method of outreach to the membership.

The Committee feels that in the future, EPCOM should be the source of any cost-sharing and resource sharing agreement for pancake breakfasts. General Office provides support for setup and operation of the pancake breakfasts, but the event was in no way a GO event.

The committee concluded that the current issue of the outstanding invoice would be brought to FASC for a budget increase to the General Office. Moving forward, EPCOM would have discussions on the best method to continue funding and operating pancake breakfasts.

b. SFU's Got Talent
MOTION EPCOM 2015-01-14:03

Pearce/Amended Pearce

Be it resolved to allocate up to $5,000 from 817/20 Events–Committee for the "SFU's Got Talent" event taking place at the SFU Theatre on February 6th 2015 for the following costs:

Up to $1200 for venue rental production and facilities

Up to $750 for security

Up to $2200 for prizes and entertainment

Up to $500 for marketing

Up to $300 for volunteer appreciation

Up to $50 for miscellaneous costs

Be it further resolved that the working group be tasked to provide a detailed budget of both expended and approved funds at the next EPCOM meeting.

The event had been approved in principle in the previous semester and the venue cost had been covered. Planning for the event could be improved but auditions have been popular and outreach has been successful. A number of sponsors have been secured, both monetary and in kind. The event will be streamed live online and voting opportunities would be available to determine the winners.

The $6000 request included production costs, audiovisual equipment (rentals from Long and McQuade), food and refreshments for volunteers (Nesters sponsorship would only be used for event day), marketing costs, remainder of venue costs. $6000 was deemed by the working group to be a conservative budget to ensure that the event was of a high calibre, with the hope that any additional expenses would be covered through sponsorship. It was expressed that the last number of committee meeting had run out of time and therefore details on the progress of SFU's Got Talent planning could not be communicated to EPCOM.

A number of members expressed concern with the large budgets in a number of areas, including advertising, media, prizes, and production, particularly given the lack of a more detailed budget breakdown.

Members on the working group have had to cover costs of the event planning and execution out of pocket thus far, including audition AV equipment and volunteer refreshments and food, which was of great concern to the committee. A number of committee members indicated that this should never have occurred in the first place, and that retroactive funding and out of pocket expenses with no guarantees of Society reimbursement was not desirable under any circumstance.

A member indicated that, given the lack of full details on the budget, as well as the difference in numbers between the proposal/budget, request, and the motivations, further funding would likely not be approved by committee members. Concern was expressed that the level of detail in the budget were not equal to that provided for other EPCOM initiatives.

There was also a request for a specific budget from the working group by the next meeting.

The desire was for the approved funds to allow the committee to continue work until such time that they require additional funding and could return to the committee. An amendment was put forth to provide funding towards the event in recognition, with a requirement that a detailed budget be provided to the committee as soon as possible.

CARRIED AS AMENDED

7. Discussion

a. Committee Time

Only one member could not make the current time. Another member did not fill out the doodle. Questions were raised of whether the committee would like to change the time.

It was expressed that members who have not showed up to meetings on a consistent basis should be removed from the committee.

If the committee was interested, those positions could be opened and those members could continue to attend.

1.0 Executive Summary

Most events in principle serve a purpose, this platform will become an opportunity to showcase students who are interested taking their talents to a new level. The judges will be professionals from the school of contemporary arts as well as other successful artists within the industry who have made it successfully. The prizes will also be enticing to attract a quality talent pool from which successful candidates can be selected.

Given this is the third year, the team is focusing on developing the event on a greater scale than the previous year it's been developed. Given the committee's direction of having the event on SFU location, emphasis will be placed on Quality with the event production being done at a level that allows the artists to feel excited and interest to participate in the event.

2.0 Marketing strategy

2.1 Multi-level Marketing Approach

We're going to have tickets circulated to promoters around the campus. The goal is to have promoters around each campus so that there's a vibrant presence. This individuals will not only be responsible for selling tickets for the event, they'll also be promoting individuals to sign up for performances.

2.2 Social Media

The use of social media will be split into two levels, one will be announcements that's provided for immediate release by the communications department in charge of updating the "Product's" Facebook page, website, and other social media related to this event.

The second updates will the Media Partners like The Social Media Network, Marketing club and other clubs within our directory who specialize in new age media, that receive the email blast as well and markets it out. This list will also consist of blogging companies and social media companies within SFU and the greater Vancouver area. The Peak, Vancity Buzz, 604 Vancouver, 24hours and Georgia Straight. Since we're not only branding ourselves to students within SFU, it's important to make sure that we are showing a very vibrant image of our school to the lower mainland. A majority of those who attend this event might either come to SFU later on, or stop speaking poorly about us in comparison to UBC.

Contests where individuals tag 20 of their friends for a chance to win free entry, or like the SFSS Facebook Page, write on the wall for a chance to win and much more. This contests can all be done through our social media platforms as well as other media partners.

Social Media Platform: WE WANT TO BE ON EVERY PLATFORM. NOT JUST OUR OWN. This means Instagram, Snapchat, twitter, reddit e.t.c || Everyone who's part of developments will be asked on to post on these platforms. (who will manage these accounts?)

3.3 Community Outreach

The team will send messages to departments, DSU's, have tables in the AQ and much more.

3.4 Advertisement

Apart from word-of-mouth and social media, a large part of the marketing campaign of this is going to be print marketing. This will be posters of different kinds circulating around the school and in systematic waves. Apart from Print Marketing, we'd also work to utilize clubs who table the AQ like C.A.C. since clubs will be given the opportunity to get involved with us, not just by selling tickets some of them giving out flyers for the event could be decentralized from our volunteers into other clubs as well. They can pick this up at the GO. We will also have tabling options around the school for those who might not get the information through social media. We can also encourage to cultural clubs or other clubs to send in their teams. For example: we can have a special Bollywood team or hip-hop team. This will motivate club members to invite their friends and build audience for the event.

3.0 Major Positions

7.0 Strengths, Weaknesses, Opportunities and Threats

7.1 Strengths

- It's the second year of the event.
- building on previous foundations and student knowledge
- marketing plans into other universities and colleges for an inclusive platform.
- incorporating clubs and DSU's to be part of the event
- Working with SFU to get it featured on major outlets of the school
- Working with SFU PR to advertise the event
- Promoting school spirit and adding attractions that'll different groups on campus
- Streaming increases potential for sponsorship revenue
- Develop strong media campaigns
- Prize selection should be enticing
- Focus on making clubs more involved and actively participating.

7.2 Weaknesses

- limited funding due to budget constraints
- diversification of entertainment and talent might affect production value
- ticket price needs to reflect entire event |and still be affordable
- Volunteer Demand is quite grand, need a streamline approach(Website) Somewhere that all marketing stream directs any interested student to. Committee meetings need to me structured and measurable.
- Sponsorship needs to be focused to secure as much for the event as possible.
- Vendors for food and drinks should be secured ASAP to prevent food truck companies being full. Location should be booked ASAP to avoid location unavailability.
- Very limited staff resources

7.3 Opportunities

- Over 200+ individuals showed up to the promotional Open Mic event, the excitement during this event created a buzz regarding SFU's Got Talent in January and a number of individuals already inquiring on how they're potentially going to get involved.

- Spending more money on the production and quality of this event would ultimately allow the event to go a lot smoother and give talented students a reason to invest their time to practice for the event.
- Volunteers will be much easier to acquire given the website portal and integrating it to the SFSS's portal.
- Having a different team focused on the portal will allow it to be transitioned to a different team next year who can potentially continue SFUGT
- There are great opportunities for funding from SFU given this will promote a vibrant student community. From initial conversations from SFU Vancouver Campus, there's been a desire to develop a community Talent Show and with the quality development of this event, they're looking to get involved in planning and execution.
- Clubs interested in doing an event on the same day will promote a sense of excitement during the event day.
- The emphasis on Media and Social Media presence might create excitement within the student body to purchase tickets. If that doesn't work, the headliner will.
- The headliner confirmed to perform for the event will make the event extremely amazing given it'll be a drawing factor for the student body who will not only get to see their friends perform, but will watch them alongside a professional they are familiar with.
- A number of business will be interested in partnering with this event given that it is focused on empowering and promoting student talent. There we're a couple of companies that have already stated interest.
- There can a pre-event and a post-event party at Highland Pub with an established DJ, which can help to raise some of the funds for the main event.

7.4 Threats

- Funding opportunities might be limited for the event
- Website might not be able to be developed in time
- Guest artists for the event might be unavailable
- Executive team might be busy with classes which could affect organization and plans
- Sponsorship might not be receptive to event
- Targets might be unrealistic
- location capacity might need to be edited, affecting ticket projections
- Very limited staff resources

8.0 Sustainability, Social Responsibility

Strategy

8.1 recycling and waste

Sustainable SFU is a very great resource to include in the development of this event, not only will they help in answering and tackling some of the issues we might have regarding waste collected from this event, there might be contacts provided for local vancouver companies to attend the event to help with waste disposal.

Waste plan can be developed through collaboration with these groups and implemented within the event plans.

9.0 Event Strategy

9.1 Experience:

The first selling point of this event will be the media component. The goal is to stream this event to a wide Vancouver demography and the world who are potentially looking to watch their children perform. The internet and social media has made events like this easy to market to a greater population given the huge network individuals have on their individual platforms.

Given students purchasing tickets to this event, an headliner to close the night or potentially be part of the judges would allow it to an amazing experience.

The second is the Prizes that'll be given out for the event. This prices will need to represent greatly the potential to propel these talents to the next level of their career. This means recording opportunities for artists or mentor date with one of the judges.

Timeline

October - This month will be specifically used to build the executive team as well as train them on their committee structures. Confirmed sponsorship avenues will be visited to maximize the funding avenues available towards making this event successful. Given there is an emphasis on doing the event at Woodward's necessary meetings to secure the location will be needed.

Given the time of the year, convocation mall might be too cold with the weather reducing the successfulness of the event.

Sponsorship packages, website, marketing and promotional plans should be confirmed ASAP.

Promotional Calendar:

1) SEARCH FOR EVENT HOST(MALE,FEMALE)

This individuals will be responsible for hosting the event on the day of the event as well as potentially speaking to the students who audition in front of the backdrop. The commitment time will be roughly 3 days - 5 days within the span of the event development.

SEARCH FOR TELEVISION PERSONALITY.

This individual will be responsible for working with the video promotions team to make sure the event is funny, and exciting. He/She will be followed by the camera and connect with students about SFU's Got Talent. There awareness of the event and much more.

2) NOMINATIONS OPEN[November 1st]

This will be advertised all over the school to make sure individuals are able to see that auditions are opened. The website will be completed around this time with students using the web form to submit their applications. Application closed date will be included on the poster as well. The advertisement of Nominations should be taken as the third wave of marketing, there's an increase in visibility, presence and much more. Tables around each campuses can be scheduled around this time!

4) JUDGE SELECTION OPEN | HEADLINER JUDGE(PERFORMER)

The committee will be responsible for searching for notable judges for the event. This will not be regular students who do not have experience in the industry but will be notable members of society who for example teach at SFU's School of Contemporary Arts, Local Celebrities that have archived a certain level of fame and much more. This individuals would be able to give actual advice on how these students can better themselves as well as become a vital network towards increasing the brand of this event.

November 1 - 3rd Week

Auditions begin - The audition dates will be during this time. The goal is to make sure we are putting a lot of media around this stage because a number of people will be watching the YouTube streams. Depending on the Media Coordinator we secure, this will develop the greatest hype for the event and get the community excited for the event. A wild card will be awarded to the student who is able to generate the most YouTube videos from their event. Given the amount of Production required for the success of this event, a good productions company will be necessary given it'll take away from the capabilities of our Communications Office.

EARLY BIRD TICKETS BEGIN: The Facebook events page will be launched already with the specific dates highlighted within it. Ticket sales begin around the time of auditions and will be scheduled specific locations around the school. As opposed to our General Office selling tickets, our sponsors will be the outlet for ticket sales, for accountability, each ticket will be labelled with tracking number as well as which outlets are given tickets. Special Envelopes will be given to this outlets who will check off which tickets number they 've sold. This means that if Nester's Market sells ticket 001, they will mark on the sales form that they sold ticket 001. This allows the ability to total the amount received from them with the number on the sheets of paper which become like a receipt.

December Week 1

An announcement will be made about a special headliner for the event. Given the tier system associated with this event, ticket prices will go up. Online tickets will open at this time. December marks the selection process. By the third week of December, the selection team has confirmed the list of performers for the event, create a potential Set-list, performance criteria, and present this to the team.

DECEMBER WEEK 3

Once this has been confirmed, the SFUGT's website can be updated with the list of individuals who have made the cut. The announcement is only made on the website but not advertised.

Ticket sales will continue with the Event's page growing tremendously. Ticket distribution, sponsorship, funding avenues are being confirmed. Production companies are being confirmed for the event and necessary Media production team putting out scheduled items for the event.

December Week 4

During this time confirmation of the performances are sent out to each performer with a 1 week period to get back to the team on stage necessities, musical requirements and much more. This will allow the logistics team and production team to plan accordingly on how the set times will work.

Afterparty

A date for announcing the headliner will be announced with an afterparty at the pub being initiated. The branding behind this event will be sorted out as we get close to the event day.

January Week 1 [TIER 2]

Given the event itinerary is now finalized, the team will release the event schedule as well as information on Voting and much more. The Television personality will also advertise this. A date will be made for run through of the entire event, one date will be booked for Week 1, while another date will be booked for Week 2.

This will ensure individuals get the necessary level of practice for their performance, and allows the production team to know how to work with each performance. Given that the event will be streamed live. It's extremely vital that the team gets as much practice as possible.

January Week 2: TIER 3 Tickets

As ticket prices continue, the team will head to the location, logistics will go over the the location plans for Sponsors setting up tables, Backdrop for attendees, photo area, and much more.

Volunteer run through will be scheduled to make sure everyone is on the same page. The production team will go over the entire event on location, this will be without the performers who will go over their necessary set list at a location much different from the actual location.

Media Team will set up their strategy on how they're potentially going to cover this event, cut to advertisements if there is capabilities for such a thing and much more. The set times, Audience Voting will be done. Finals will be practiced as well.

January Week 3:

Performance Pool - Performs Set Times
Audience Votes
Round 2 Performers - Performs Set times
Audience Votes
Final Performance - Performs Set Times.
Winners Selected!

Possible options of audience using iclickers or Pollev
(<http://www.polleverywhere.com/app>)? Voting method to be determined by Executive planning team.

9.2 Diversification

Given the need to brand the event with a number of talents, The SFU's Got Talent branding will not get rid of all individuals. Given the number of artist we get through auditions, we will ask a few individuals who are interested in performing around the university to be part of classroom promotional performance tour. These talents will be scheduled to attend numerous classrooms and perform, if they are able to for the scheduled time they are awarded by the professors.

TALENT SHOWCASE:

For promotions, Clubs within the SFSS Club portal will be asked to potentially develop events during the same day. This will range from Food Trucks, Poker events, Movie Night and much more. This events will help create a spirit of activities going on to give students an opportunity to showcase their own talents even though they did not make it to the official stage of SFU's Got Talent. We'll have a Talent Showcase Coordinator meeting with clubs asking them if they would be interested in developing a small event for their membership on this day.

The only rule is that these events can only be during the day: THE REASON IS BECAUSE SFU'S GOT TALENT WILL TAKE PLACE DURING THE EVENING, THUS IT'LL BE VITAL THAT THE COMMUNITY TUNES IN FOR THE EVENT!

IDEAS

- GAME ROOM
- DUNK TANKS
- MOVIE ROOM
- BUILD SFU ACTIVITY

9.3 Accessibility Funding

With the need for events to become more accessible for all individuals, funding requirements from accessibility would allow us to make this event inclusive to a large number of students who might not be able to attend. Provide accessibility training to volunteers and much more. Accessibility funds can help us enhance the overall experience of the event. Students have spoken about the need to stream the event to those who are unable to afford tickets, have well trained volunteers for the wide range of audiences.

10.0 E-Commerce Plan

10.1 Sales

Online Ticketing PROMOTIONS: While there are promoters who have physical tickets on hand for the event and will be selling it to their specific networks, a great deal of hype will be placed on this promoters to HYPE the events on social media, this means while they are meeting students to sell tickets, they will also be messaging individuals on the Facebook events page if they have their tickets, how many tickets they require and that they could give them a “Discount”. “UBC promoters make sure that they post on the group about how many tickets they have left as well as help to hype up the event by commenting that , they themselves are sold out of tickets.

ONLINE WEBSITES FOR PURCHASING TICKETS: will be developed an integrated ticketing portal into the website as well as the Facebook Page. This page would allow individuals who are unable to meet the promoters conveniently to purchase tickets from their own homes. For ease, it’ll be great if this can be integrated into the event website to allow for all marketing portals to lead to one location with all the needs of the event.

The most important thing to note is that the online tickets will always be more expensive than the physical tickets. This is to promote Students purchasing tickets from the hands of the promoters.

Contacting clubs/DSU/Faculty:

There will be a team that’s responsible for selling tickets by emailing individual clubs and meeting up with them. This will ensure that given there are at least 300 clubs. There is a group that’s actively targeting at least 25 clubs a day. We have about 300 clubs with 3 months to plan the event. This means that given that leaves 12 weeks in to the actual event, this team will be responsible for making sure there’s active conversation within the DSU level as well as the clubs portal. They will also be contacting the respective faculties to send information out to students about the event.

10.2 WEBSITE

Not only will the inclusion of a website allow us to develop a great event, where all the needs are streamlined to one portal. It'll also increase sponsorship revenue with logos and much more can be placed there with redirect allowing backlinking to these companies for Search engine optimization and much more. We'll be able to stream the event for those who do not attend. STREAMING TO A POPULATION OF 30,000 IS GREAT BRAND MARKETING OPPORTUNITIES FOR SILVER/GOLD SPONSORS WHO MIGHT SEE THAT AS A BENEFIT.

One important thing to note is that some of this performers might
